About the Presenters

Tyler J Rowe is a registered Chinese Medicine practitioner with degrees in Acupuncture and Chinese Herbal Medicine as well as qualifications in Chinese Massage, Feng Shui, Chinese Dietary Therapy, Chinese Astrology, Qi Gong and Taichi.

Tyler has been studying, practicing and teaching Chinese Medicine and related arts for more than 15 years. He regularly presents at conferences, holds seminars and writes articles for professional journals. His key areas of interest include study of canonical literature and ancient rituals. Tyler has been involved in post graduate studies of classical Chinese medical writings for more than 10 years and now applies this wisdom to Feng shui.

Vic Ketis is the founder and principal of the 'Australian Academy of Feng Shui, Chinese Astrology and I Ching', a leading provider of education in Australia which presents extensive courses & programs for practitioner training and general interest.

15 Years of personal training has included Master Raymond Lo of Hong Kong and Astrosynthesis in Melbourne. Current research and study involves the integration of the principles of Sacred Geometry into the Feng Shui paradigm and building design. He is also undertaking advanced studies in western astrology, including a component of Astrology incorporated into the Tarot.

He consults in Feng Shui and building design to homes, office and business, and personal Chinese Astrology, Australia wide and internationally. He also consults and teaches courses in the Chinese philosophy of the I Ching.

Primary Source

皇帝内经 Huángdì Nèijīng
'The Yellow Emperor's Internal Medicine Classic'
the first and most influential book on medicine and health.

Still relevant today, the book was written more than 2000 years ago as a dialogue between the Yellow Emperor and his ministers. It is made up of two parts - the 素问 Sùwèn 'Simple Questions' on theory, and the 灵枢 Língshū 'Spiritual Pivot' on treatment. These 81 chapters not only constitute the core of Classical Chinese Medicine as it is practiced in modern times, but also had great influence in the development of related arts such as Feng shui and Chinese Astrology.

Content:

This seminar will cover 'Medical theory' outside the scope of most existing Feng shui and Chinese Astrology courses.

Topics will include but not be limited to :-

道 Dào 'the Way'; its impact on Chinese thought and the proto-sciences.

阴阳 Yīnyáng 'polar opposites'; four principles and their personal interactions.

五行 Wǔxíng 'five elements'; a comprehensive look at systematic correspondence.

经络 Jīngluò 'channels and collaterals' the meridian network of acupuncture.

脏腑 Zàngfǔ 'viscera and bowels' the Chinese view of the organ system.

食疗 Shíliáo 'dietary therapy' the flavour and nature of food as medicine.

五神 Wǔshén 'five spirits' emotions, mental faculties and psychology

Concepts will be explained in terms of their ancient meanings, historical relevance, recent uses and possible future interpretations. This will be followed by a class discussion of their potential application to the built environment.

This seminar is relevant for:

Feng shui and Chinese Astrology practitioners, consultants, educators or students and general interest .

Study the arts of Chinese Medicine as they were written in the original sources with the aid of case studies and scientific research.

Learn the skills necessary to integrate the information into existing Feng shui methods, schools and current literature .

Discover greater comprehension of Chinese terms and concepts through investigation of their applications.

Broaden your scope of practice by gaining greater understanding of our foundations and their practical purpose.

Forthcoming seminars in the series :-

Part 2 - Illness & Injury (the pathology of elemental disease and wellbeing)

Part 3 - Cosmology of the Body (the universe reflected in the internal landscape)
